Peter Gács, Department of Computer Science, Boston University

Employment

1984-	Computer Science Department, Boston University. Tenured since 1985, Professor since 1992.
2013	Visiting researcher at LIRMM, Montpellier, France.
2008	Visiting researcher at the Mathematical Institute of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences.
2007	Visiting Professor at University of Provence, Marseille.
2007	Visiting Professor at Ecole Normal Superieure, Paris.
2000	Visiting Professor at University of Rome, Italy.
2000, 1993	Visiting Scientist at CWI, Amsterdam.
1992	Visiting Scientist at IBM Research Center, Yorktown Heights.
1992	Visiting Scholar at DIMACS, Rutgers University.
1988-89	Visiting Scientist at IBM Research Center, San Jose.
1985	Summer: Consulting at Bell Communication Research.
1980-84	Departments of Computer Science and Mathematics, University of Rochester. Assistent Professor, then Associate Professor from 1982.
1983	Summer: Consulting at IBM Research Center, Yorktown Heights.
1979	Visiting Research Associate, Computer Science Department, Stanford University.
1977-78	Visiting Associate Professor and Assistent Professor, J.W.Goethe University, Frankfurt am Main.
1970-77	Research Associate, Mathematical Institute of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences.
1975	Visiting Lecturer, Institute of Statistics, G.August University, Göttingen.
1972-73	Fellowship of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences, at Moscow University, Statistical Laboratory.

Education

Ph.D.	1978 J.W.Goethe University Frankfurt am Main, West Germany.
M.S.	1970 Eötvös University, Budapest, Hungary.

Awards

NSF grants in 1983, 1986, 1990, 1992, 2002.
Hungarian Academy of Science, external member.

Membership

American Mathematical Society, Association for Computing Machinery

Languages

English, German, Russian, Spanish, Hungarian.